9 of 9 review helpful More cream of the crap By Jon Hunt Barely a year after Matthew Diffee offered us The Rejection Collection cartoons that never made it into the New Yorker he's back with another load of hysterical rejects After an engaging introduction describing the life of any given cartoonist off we go into the nether world of cartoons that might have could have or even should have been included in the magazi Language Chinese HardCover Pub Date October 2007 Pages 304 in Publisher Gallery Books Each week The the New Yorker receives the protection of more than five hundred submissions from its regular cartoonists who are all vying for one of the twenty coveted spots in the magazine. So what happens to the 75 percent of cartoons that don't make the cut? Some go back in a drawer, others go up on the refrigerator or into the filing cabinet, but the very best of all the rejects come. Each week, The New Yorker receives more than 500 submissions from its regular cartoonists who are all vying for one of the 20 coveted spots in the magazine. So what happens to the 75 percent of cartoons that don't make the cut? Some go back in a drawer.
